Caba Leading Fight Against Cops Getting Two New Captains

by Dale Fiske
Advertiser News Municipal Writer

Considerable deliberation but only a few minor changes were made for most of the fiscal 1986-87 budget items discussed by Town Council members Monday, June 9th.

The most spirited debate resulted when Town Councilor Edward A. Caba, chairman of the Fire and Police Budget Subcommittee, made his recommendation to the council that Police Chief Stanley J. Chmielewski's request for the town's first two police captains be denied.

Caba said, "I'm against what the supplemental budget was for (giving the Police Department five more patrolmen). This will take two men from the street for administration. It should be brought-up in the fiscal 1987-88 budget."

However, Councilor Frederick Nardi, another member of the Fire and Police Department Subcommittee, disagreed with Caba. Nardi said, "There is a survey out and just about every town has some officer between the chief of police and the sergeants. You are not putting on extra personnel by allowing for two captains. It will free-up sergeants to go out and supervise as is required of them. The town will get more coverage this way.

"Without supervision, productivity decreases. West Springfield has four captains and more sergeants and the town is smaller than Agawam. Westfield has one captain, six lieutenants, and nine sergeants. We don't have any intermediary," Nardi concluded.

As the debate continued, it was brought-out that even though Agawam at one time had a captain, that position was nixed by ordinance. In order to allow money for two captains, those positions must first be created by ordinance.

The police budget, however, was left untouched because it was level-funded by Police Chief Stanley J. Chmielewski.

LEGAL NOTICE TOWN OF AGAWAM BOARD OF APPEALS

Notice is hereby given that the Board of Appeals will give a hearing at Administration Annex Building, Agawam, Thursday, June 26, 1986, at 7:30 p.m. o'clock, to all parties interested in the appeal of EDWARD M. DELOGHIA who is seeking relief from Section 20, Paragraph 26 of the Zoning Ordinances to allow the construction of a single family residence on a 10.93 acre parcel of land with less than the required frontage as REAR of 83 Woodside Drive.

Published: June 12, 1986

At presstime, the council gave its tentative approval of the police budget. Town Attorney Ralph Atkins said that the $10,000 earmarked for the two police captains should be kept in the budget and then transferred when the two positions are officially created.

Among the various town accounts reviewed, but not altered were: Town Council, $58,785; Town Manager, $108,964; Town Accountant, $77,476 (amended from $71,281); Town Clerk, $79,041; Treasurer, $113,266; Tax Collector, $64,395; Assessor, $92,472; Law, $67,000; and Elections, $13,537.

The Town Building Administration account, which includes heat, light, and power, was proposed by Town Manager Reid S. Charles at $189,330. Councilor cut $5,500 from that total, mostly on contractual items to make the total $183,830.

In the Fire Department account, councilors voted to drop $2,898 from that total, making the amount allocated to the AFD $1,538,165. The amount deleted represented the purchase of a word processor. It was decided by a majority vote to take the word processor in the council clerk's office and transfer it to the AFD.

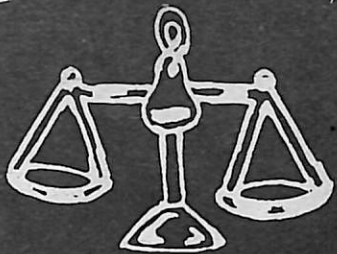

All other AFD requests were granted by the council. Among items left in the account is money to send several of the firefighters to the Fire Academy in Delaware; money for the Fire Science College; funds to purchase a 4,500-pound capacity compressor with a booster; update and replacement of three radios at $2,500 each; and physical fitness equipment, $4,000.

The AFD requested $72,000 for overtime. Councilor Alfred Trehey suggested that this figure be cut by $30,000 because he noted that the AFD still has $40,000 remaining in its overtime fund in the current fiscal budget.

However, Trehey failed to receive majority support, as did Councilor Philip DeForge, who proposed a $20,000 cut in overtime be passed. Precinct 2 Councilor William Herd then asked for a $10,000 cut in the AFD's overtime budget but this, too, was defeated.

Sgt. Longhi Urges Agawam Residents To Use Seat Belts

Safety Belt Proclamation

Whereas: Injuries suffered by motor vehicle drivers and passengers continue to be a leading cause of death and disability for citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas: The simple act of properly using seat belts and child car safety seats could eliminate up to 50 percent of these needless tragedies; and

Whereas: Individuals and organizations have united to promote increased seat belt use by all citizens of the Commonwealth; and

Whereas: As a result of their efforts, a mandatory seat belt law was passed, and is now in effect in Massachusetts; and

Whereas: The "Make It Click Challenge" encourages people to use safety belts and child safety seats each and every time they are in a vehicle, especially during the 101 critical days from Memorial Day weekend through Labor Day weekend;

Now, therefore, I, Sergeant Alfred J. Longhi, Safety Officer of the Town of Agawam, do hereby proclaim the 101 critical days from May 24th, 1986 through September 1st, 1986, to be the "Make It Click Challenge," and commend those persons and organizations who are helping to educate Agawam residents as to the importance of seat belts.

Letters-to-the-Editor

IRS Says Thanks For Publicity

To The Editor:

The Internal Revenue Service has recently concluded a highly-successful filing season, delivering refunds into the hands of the Commonwealth's 4.8 million taxpayers in a few short weeks. We would like to call attention to the role your paper played in this effort by placing tax information at the disposal of your readers.

Our commitment to improving service operations leads us back to a very basic theme — that we are in the business of being there when taxpayers have a question or a problem concerning the filing and processing of their tax returns.

The recent filing season's success represented the result of increased hiring of tax assistance personnel, a focus on quality training for all Internal Revenue Service employees and, most importantly, making the public aware that the Service was ready to meet the filing season demand.

Your dedication to public service helped us bring that message to the taxpayers throughout Massachusetts. The many tax stories you printed enabled your readers to better understand what was expected of them in filing their Federal Tax Returns.

Bob Ruttenberg and his Public Affairs staff join with me in thanking you for helping us promote tax programs which are designed to assist your readers in filing timely and accurate tax returns.

Sincerely,
John D. Johnson
District Director

Grand National Auto Relocating Business To West Springfield

Grand National Auto of School Street, Agawam Center, will be moving from town this weekend. On Monday, June 16th, owners William & Valerie Douglas will reopen their business on River Street, West Springfield.

"It's just over the Agawam-West Springfield Bridge and it's real easy for our Agawam customers to get to," said Douglas.

The new operation, said Douglas, is four times the size of the present one. He said the added space will allow for necessary expansion, a luxury he would not have at the cramped, School Street site.

The new license granted him 50 cars, up 36 cars from his license in Agawam (14). He said his service area and garage can also expand at the West Springfield site.

"We are really growing and the Agawam location was inhibiting our ability to grow," said Douglas.

With the move, Grand National Auto will become one of West Springfield's largest used car dealers. In addition to selling cars, they will also offer a full-service center that includes towing and inspection stickers. The business will operate daily until 8:00 p.m., Monday to Friday. Grand National will also be open on Saturday during the day.

"We didn't want to leave Agawam but we cannot run this business on a 14-car license. Our present facility is too small. I hope my many customers in Agawam will follow us over there because we have built a good relationship with them," Douglas said.

The garage will be hiring two additional mechanics after the move.

Douglas thanked the support he recently received from the Agawam Town Council concerning his license on School Street, and particularly expressed his gratitude to Precinct 4 Councilor Frederick Harpin and Police Chief Stanley J. Chmielewski.

"Both Councilor Harpin and Chief Chmielewski were very helpful to us when we appeared before the council, both recently and in the past. I'm glad both men have faith in my ability as a businessman," said Douglas.

Bonavita-Saracino Pushing For Court Date

by Dale Fiske

Advertiser News Municipal Writer

The trials and tribulations of Precinct 4 Town Councilor Anthony Saracino continued last week when Hampden County Superior Court Judge John Murphy agreed that Saracino's union cannot enforce its contract on him because the union failed to properly follow the contract's grievance procedure.

Saracino, who is currently on an unpaid leave of absence as a court officer in Hampshire Superior Court, was forced to leave his job when the State Trial Court, administered by Chief Justice Arthur Mason in Boston, said Saracino must either give-up his court job or leave the Agawam Town Council.

According to Saracino's contract (he is a member of the Service Employees International Union Local 254), Saracino cannot hold an elected municipal position and remain as a court officer.

Although both Saracino and his attorney, Anthony C. Bonavita of Agawam, point out that the union contract is a violation of Massachusetts General Law, which allows state employees to hold elected municipal positions, the union and Judge Mason's office refused to bend.

Bonavita is emphatic about the union's failure to follow the grievance procedure for Saracino, noting they are violating their own contract while accusing Saracino of doing the same.

According to Bonavita, he will now ask for a trial date in July to publicly air the Saracino case. He said the trial court may still ask for a ruling from the court to officially end the case without it ever being heard in court.

"If this happens, I will oppose the motion on Saracino's behalf and ask the court to hear the case in July," Bonavita said.

Boston Attorney Ilene Robinson, who is representing Judge Mason in the matter, did not contest Bonavita's recent action in Hampden Superior Court with Judge Murphy.

According to Bonavita, because Saracino was not allowed a Step III union grievance hearing, as stated in the union contract, Judge Mason, the employees union, and the Trial Court administration "waived any rights they had to enforce the contract concerning Saracino's status as an elected official who is holding a court officer's job."

Heimlich Maneuver Stressed By Blue Cross

Would you know what to do if you saw a person choking?

The Heimlich Maneuver is the safe, simple, and approved method to assist choking victims. Last year in Massachusetts, dozens of lives were saved as quick-thinking men, women, and even children rushed to the aid of choking victims and applied the Heimlich Maneuver.

"People should be prepared to deal with choking emergencies and the Heimlich Maneuver is easy to learn," said Dorothy Allen, manager of Health Promotion for Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts. "Choking can happen to anyone, at any time, and we are encouraging Massachusetts residents to learn the Heimlich Maneuver to help prevent choking death."

As part of its Life Saver Program, Blue Cross and Blue Shield has documented more than 300 cases in which the lives of residents were saved through the use of the Heimlich Maneuver.

Massachusetts residents are asked to notify the Health Promotion Department at Blue Cross and Blue Shield should they become aware of a Life Saver incident.

Wallet-sized "Life-Saver" instruction cards which show how to apply the Heimlich Maneuver are available, free of charge, from Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Massachusetts. To obtain your card, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to the Health Promotion Department, Blue Cross and Blue Shield, 100 Summer Street, Boston, Massachusetts, 02110.

Farm Credit Bank Shows Good Earnings For First Quarter

The First Farm Credit District, headquartered in Agawam, showed continued stability in the first quarter of 1986, according to Clifford E. Busekist, senior administrative vice president.

The district's banks and associations reported profits of $3.8 million, after contributing $1.9 million to loss-sharing assistance for other districts in the Farm Credit System, Busekist noted.

"This earnings level is approximately the same as first-quarter earnings for 1985," Busekist said, adding, "Earnings for 1985 totaled $13.4 million, after financial assistance contributions of $7.3 million to other districts."

"The district had $1.9 billion in loans outstanding on March 31st," Busekist reported, adding: "Credit quality remains strong, with loan delinquency levels under the district's goal of two percent."

The First Farm Credit District is composed of the Federal Land Bank, Federal Intermediate Credit Bank, and Springfield Bank for Cooperatives, as well as 18 joint Land Bank/Production Credit associations, which serve farmers, fishermen, and their cooperatives in the six New England states, New York State, and New Jersey.

Easy Summertime Recipes Courtesy of D'Amours Big Y

How would you like to "eat out" tonight? If the weatherman cooperates, you can — even if it only means carrying your dinner plate outside and eating in your yard. I'm one of those who thinks that food tastes best when eaten out of doors. Perhaps it's the relaxing atmosphere and the knowledge that the dishes can go in the trash. Cooking out can mean "no pots" — no messy dishes...and most preparation is done ahead. Here are a few tips and recipe ideas.

• For food safety, keep cold things cold. Germs which can cause food spoilage grow rapidly at warm temperatures. Be especially careful of mixtures containing meat, eggs, fish and milk. Refrigerate leftovers promptly.

• Leftover hamburger can be cooked again in dishes like spaghetti sauce and casseroles.

• When cooking over charcoal, briquettes are ready when grey-white.

• Allow plenty of time for cooking chicken. Poultry needs to be well done.

• Large, thick pieces of chicken take more time than pieces from broilers.

• Cut off visible fat to eliminate splatter, flame and smoke from dripping fat.

• Brush with barbecue sauce toward the last one-third of cooking time.

• For steaks, including ham steak, score edges of fat so meat won't curl.

• For juicy hamburgers, add a little water to meat (about ¼ cup to one pound). Add onion and garlic in some form if desired. Also, soy sauce adds a nice flavor and saltiness.

• Buns for hot dogs/hamburgers are especially good if spread with margarine and toasted over the coals.

Easy Oven Meal

About 10 minutes "prep" time; cooking time about 1 hour.

Menu: Baked chicken pieces, baked potato, squash squares and/or peas and carrots.

French bread or rolls can be heated in oven. Canned fruit or other purchased dessert as desired. (For one person, use a toaster oven; chicken, potato and squash will all fit on broiler pan.)

• Set oven at 400°.

• Scrub potatoes and prick skin; place potatoes near top of oven.

• Cut squares of hubbard squash or cut acorn squash into halves; remove seeds. Place inverted squash on pan. Bake for ½ hour; turn cavity side up. Brush with butter and sprinkle with salt; sweeten with a teaspoon of honey or brown sugar if desired. Return to oven.

• Peas and carrots or other frozen vegetable. Wrap in foil or place in covered oven-proof dish. Bake last 20 minutes.

• Rinse chicken. Coat with crushed and seasoned cornflake or bread crumbs or leave plain.* Place chicken on rack (broiler rack or cooking cooling rack) over shallow pan or broiler pan. Place in oven.

*Skin can be removed. Dip in evaporated milk or brush with oil to keep moist. The crumbs will adhere to skinned chicken forming a crisp coating and keep chicken moist.

Cooking time may vary — about one hour for medium size chicken pieces and potatoes. To save time, squash can be peeled and cut into cubes. Bake in a covered dish or wrapped in foil (seal well by folding foil over.)

Rhubarb Cobbler

A Good 'N Easy Recipe

1¼ lb. (4 cups) raw rhubarb

¾ cup sugar

¾ cup flour

1 tsp. baking powder

¼ tsp. salt

¼ cup sugar

1 egg (beaten)

¼ cup milk

¼ cup butter or margarine

Preheat oven to 375° F. Cut rhubarb into one inch pieces. Mix rhubarb and sugar and put into one-quart casserole or eight-inch square pan.

Topping: Sift together dry ingredients. Mix egg, milk and melted butter and stir gently into flour mixture. Spoon over the rhubarb. Bake until topping is done, approximately 40 minutes. Test with toothpick to be sure. Serves six to eight. Delicious served warm with a little vanilla ice cream on top.

Note: Recipe can be doubled and one egg is enough. Bake in 9x13" pan.

Volunteer Recognition

Storowton was the setting on a rainy, rainy afternoon for a nice Volunteer Recognition Luncheon and Program, arranged by Senior Center staff members Virginia Hennessey and Richard Mundo. More than 60 seniors were honored and volunteer pins and certificates were awarded.

Members of the Drama Club and volunteer instructors were also recognized. Guest speaker was Reverend Donald Morris, pastor of the Agawam Baptist Church, and a member of the Council on Aging. Also at the head table were Town Manager Reid Charles, Council President Andrew Gallano, and Activities Director Sandra Smith. Council on Aging members were present and Chairman Vera Conway spoke to the group in their behalf. Norbert (Nobby) and Wanda Adamski were also recognized as new volunteer "Friendly Visitors" for the Senior Center.

A warm thank you from the volunteers to Ginny Hennessey for her work in implementing a fine program. Thanks, too, to the local business organizations who made the program and the awards possible.

Vera Conway

Vera Conway, who has been actively involved in social and justice issues relating to Agawam Senior Citizens for the past 14 years, has resigned her longtime commitment as a member of the Council on Aging. For the past several years, she has served as council chairwoman. Her resignation was effective June 11th. She will be greatly missed. She has led the council well; policies have been up-dated; the center staff has been increased; the needs of Agawam's elder population have been, and still are, a priority consideration of the council.

Mrs. Conway and the council have been responsible for the formation of "Friends of the Agawam Senior Center" as a helpful adjunct to the town budget, and a means for

Strengthening Abdominal

There is a very definite relationship between weakness of the abdominal muscles and low back pain. The abdominal muscles act against the pull of the intestines and certain hip muscles to help prevent hyperlordosis (hollow or swayback). Weak abdominal muscles, then, can cause an overstress on the back. The strengthening of abdominal muscles traditionally has been carried out by doing sit-ups with the legs stretched out straight on the floor. However, this technique merely serves to strengthen the hip flexors and rotate the pelvis from the horizontal to the vertical position. A pelvic inclination of over 70 degrees causes an overstress of the back and hip extensor muscles, thus inviting back problems.

If you suspect your child may be developing or showing signs of scoliosis, you should make an appointment at a chiropractor. Give us a call here at the AGAWAM CHIROPRACTIC OFFICES. Special attention given to this problem in its early stages can minimize pain and discomfort later in life. We are conveniently located at 100 Main St., and we are available by appointment when you call 786-7388. We remind you that the back you save is your own! We are glad to answer any questions you may have.

A chiropractor can suggest exercises that actually strengthen the abdominal muscles and make the entire back stronger.

Your Dental Health
by Dr. Stephen Jacapraro, DMD
Main Street - AgawamDecay In The Tooth...

Once decay in a tooth has been removed, the dentist chooses fillings based on a number of factors: size of cavity and its location, the kind of chewing stresses it will undergo, and how the finished filling will look, the cosmetic aspect.

The material used for most back teeth and the majority of fillings is to silver amalgam, an alloy of silver, mercury, tin, copper, and zinc.

The first to use such a mixture was a French Dentist named M. Taveau. This 19th century professional filed down silver coins and mixed the powder with mercury to create the first amalgam fillings. An unfounded fear that mercury in a filling could harm a patient prevented the universal use of amalgam until 1895.

For cavities of unusual size or those needing extra biting strength where a tooth has lost its wall, gold is recommended. This is not attractive for front teeth.

Therefore, many dentists sacrifice gold's durability for the good looks of synthetic porcelain which can be mixed to match the patient's tooth.

Although synthetics do seem to inhibit decay, they tend to "wash out" with the passage of time.

There are newer materials available, primarily plastic combined with other materials, i.e. quartz as an aesthetic front-filling, and some of these seem to work well and show great promise.

Currently, I am using a posterior ceramic with a bonding technique to restore molars and other teeth in heavy function that have broken, and because of the silver amalgam's brittleness, would rebreak. It is more conservative than a full crown, is aesthetic, and studies show that it actually strengthens the remaining walls of the tooth.

The Town Seal

Town Seal Becomes Art Form Reality

Without doubt, not too many residents of our town and village are acquainted with the Agawam Town Seal. Yet, such a logo does exist and to the credit of the presently unknown creator, the seal justly depicts the historical past of our famous township and village.

For those folk who would like to see a detailed copy of the seal, they need only refer to the back of the dustcover on the town history book, or on any town DPW truck where it appears on the doors.

Strangely enough, little information is to be found concerning the history of the seal and its maker. However, it is our hope that one day someone might discover the original seal (along with its history safely packed away in some attic within the confines of the town or village).

Until that time, or unless someone does know the exact background of the seal, we must be content with the knowledge that copies do exist. On that premise, we commence our story.

It can be said that the portrayal of the seal is somewhat misleading (as to identification concerning the whereabouts depicted on the inner circle).

Accordingly, we shall offer our personal conjectures, since there lacks more positive proof. The foreground of the seal shows a man standing behind a plow hitched to two horses. He is obviously plowing his fields that seem to be the flatlands or meadows adjacent to the forks of two rivers.

Perchance, the scene is directed toward Pynchon's Point where the Agawam River flows into the Connecticut River. In the extreme right foreground of the seal is a local native perched behind a huge boulder, who is aiming his musket at the unsuspecting farmer.

The background appears to be to the north of the two rivers with towering mountains reaching skyward toward what might be large billowing clouds. It is just possible this section of the scene is that of Mount Tom in Holyoke.

The simple fact of the matter lies in the truth that Agawam was from the very beginning (1635) considered valuable farmland. It is only proper that the seal so depict the historical accuracy of our town's history. Also, it is only appropriate that the creator of the seal paid homage to the first Americans to inhabit this region: the Agawam Indians.

What does seem controversial is the apparent ill-intention of the native toward the farmer. Certainly, our early archives tell us that the Agawam Indians were most peaceful toward the newly-arrived Europeans, perhaps in the hope they would remain here. The settlers helped to protect the local and smaller tribe from the wrath of more fierce Indians from the Deerfield area; or perhaps, from the feared Mohawks, who, on occasion, did pass through this region bringing with them the raised tomahawk of war.

In any event, it is quite possible that the originator of this fine artwork had in mind that period of time during King Philip's War (1675-1676) when the settlers throughout the Connecticut Valley were on constant alert to the maneuvering strategy of the skillful and ever elusive Metacoma Indian and his war parties.

Still, if such be the case, we must take the brief encounter with the natives as being the only time when the local Europeans had anything to fear from the Agawam Indians. But, since the now famous Indian War is a matter of recorded fact, we shall hope that the maker of the seal was not intent on portraying the relationship between Europeans and Indians (at least in this area) as being unfriendly.

Following the King Philip War, our local ancestors had nothing more to fear from these last of the "Forest People."

It should further be noted that what might be a boat or canoe with a single occupant on the seal is situated at the very mouth of the Agawam River. Without doubt, this singular depiction best describes the importance of the confluence of these two historic waterways in terms of the abundance of fish to be had at this location — even to this day!

Whatever the intention of its artist/creator, our town seal most certainly describes the essence of its European beginnings. Certainly, it leaves nothing to the imagination in so far as describing our town's historical past!

All in all, we say our town seal is quite representative of our famous past. If we are to be concerned with anything, it should be the rapid and incomprehensible overdevelopment of this quaint and picturesque town and village!

PART II of "THE TOWN SEAL" will appear in next week's edition of the Advertiser News.

Huge Collection Of Dinosaur Paintings At Science Museum

Dinosaurs, Mammoths, and Cavemen: The Art of Charles R. Knight, a collection of 89 pieces, including a series of original paintings done for National Geographic in 1942, many fine oil paintings, drawings, lithographs, bronzes, and a selection of memorabilia, will open at the Springfield Science Museum, June 21st.

Although the name of Charles R. Knight is unfamiliar to most people, his work has been seen by millions. In over a 1,000 paintings, drawings, and sculptures, Knight has recreated, with both scientific accuracy and artistic beauty, the creatures and environments of the prehistoric past.

Charles Knight was born in Brooklyn in 1874. After a formal art education, he became a professional artist when he was just 16 years-old. His free time was spent drawing animals at the Central Park Zoo and making almost daily visits to the American Museum of Natural History, New York, to study animal skeletons.

In 1984, he was asked to create a lifelike restoration of a prehistoric mammal for the American Museum. His effort was so successful that he spent the next four decades bringing the past to life through his talent. His goal was not simply to restore an animal never seen by man, but to infuse it with life.

Knight assumed celebrity status at the American Museum, and the scientific world rapidly came to acknowledge that he was the expert in restoring extinct creatures. Museums began to assemble specimens and exhibits to mimic the poses created in his artistic restorations.

Although dinosaur fossils were displayed in many museums, people had little idea of how these creatures actually appeared in life. Knight brought the image of the dinosaur into popular awareness and revolutionized the way fossils and prehistoric animals are presented in museums.

Adaptations or direct copies of Charles Knight's original works have found their way into museums, world's fair exhibits, and "dinosaur parks" as well as onto the motion picture screen and into comic books, model kits, stamps, and plastic toys. A photograph of one of Knight's murals from the Field Museum in Chicago has a permanent place in the Springfield Science Museum as the background for the hatching Protoceratops exhibit in Dinosaur Hall.

Dinosaurs, Mammoths, and Cavemen was organized by Czerkas Museum Exhibits of Los Angeles, and will be on display at the Springfield Science Museum through August 31st.

The museum is located on the Quadrangle at the corner of State and Chestnut Streets in downtown Springfield. Hours are Tuesday to Sunday from noon to 5:00 p.m. For information, call 733-1194.

Summer Fun All Summer Long

Start your engines...but safely, please! With summer fun and summer chores come summer accidents and some are explosive. Fueling of boats, mowers, minibikes, go-carts, etc., requires caution.

Gasoline is a flammable liquid which vaporizes easily. Once vaporized, it can burn or explode easily. Gasoline vapors are invisible and heavier than air. They float to the ground and travel along until they find a heat source and ignite. Be extremely careful when using gasoline and follow these rules:

- Don't smoke.
- Always fuel outside. Move ten feet from the fueling spot (away from the vapors) and then start the engine.
- Store gasoline in an approved, closed, metal container. Replace the lid after every use.
- Cool all motors before refueling.
- Never use gasoline as a cleaner, solvent or charcoal lighter. It is explosive. Use only as a fuel for engines.
- If you have a gasoline fire, forget fighting it. Get everyone away from it and call the fire department at 911.
- When fueling your boat, remember:
 - Never refill portable fuel tanks in the boat. Take them ashore for filling and wipe off any spillage before placing them onboard.
 - Shut down all engines, motors, pumps, fans and heating devices before fueling.
 - Don't smoke when using gasoline.

SOCIAL

Happy Father's Day

On Friday, June 13th, Heritage Hall Campus will honor Father's Day in many ways. Parties and picnics will be held for the residents. Some of them will view films on fishing, while others will be content to socialize and relax. The menu includes cheese, crackers, chips, dips, cookies, sandwiches, cheese curls, punch, and beer.

Boutonnieres will be given to all the men. Heritage Hall wishes everyone a Happy Father's Day.

EDUCATIONAL

Going Hollywood

The atmosphere was electrified with anticipation as the class got underway. Everyone was anxious to begin and the ideas were in abundance. It was the first meeting of Heritage Hall's Drama Club. They will be meeting on a weekly basis starting in July. The results of classes will be future skits and plays.

Some residents are not new to this program and are eager to help those who are. Drama has been a favorite subject with the residents in the past, and we hope they will continue to enjoy it on a regular basis.

COMMUNITY

Out Of The Kitchen

Residents of Heritage Hall have hung-up their aprons. They have a new approach to helping Springfield's Loaves and Fishes for the summer.

During the summer months, a different building on campus will be delivering canned goods to them. All staff is welcome to participate in this venture.

In October, the residents will don their aprons and resume cooking. Until then, they will continue to diligently help those in need and less fortunate than themselves.

I Remember by Florence Way

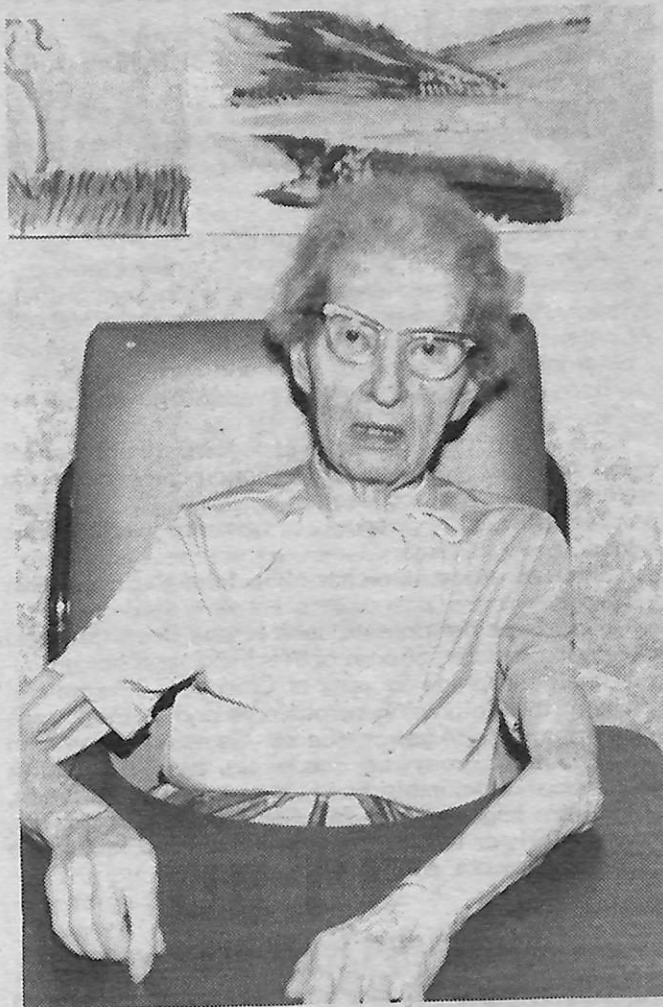

"I remember the Sunday excursions that the railroads would sponsor to New York City. The cost of a roundtrip ticket was $5. The train left Springfield at 7:30 a.m., and we would arrive at Grand Central Station around 11:00 a.m.

We wanted to get our money's worth, so we covered a lot of territory in New York. Fifth Avenue was the starting point. Most everyone headed for the shopping district, looking for bargains. After shopping was finished, we headed for the "eating places."

Then, the places of particular interest were visited. There are many beautiful churches that one can visit in New York, both Catholic and Protestant, as well as many Jewish Synagogues.

By the end of the day, everyone was tired and happy to board the train for the ride home.

The cars we rode in were beautifully upholstered in red velour, and I would think I was riding in my living

Frank was employed by the B & A Railway, while Adele remained home with the children. They had three sons and one daughter. In later years, after the children were growing and World War II began, she joined the war effort. She was employed by Cogswell Manufacturing Company.

One son and his family live in Arizona, the rest of the family members live in the area. They continue to remain close and have been very supportive. Adele has 12 grandchildren. Two of them, David and Robert Fazio of Feeding Hills, have entertained residents of Heritage Hall.

Adele continues to live a fulfilling life, surrounded by warmth, family, and friends at Heritage Hall.

Relatively Speaking Another Fine Show By Encore Players

by Phil Benoit
Advertiser News Entertainment Editor

Stephen Hays, the founder of StageWest and its producing director for nearly 20 years, has been working with the Encore Players for their last production of the 1985-96 season — Relatively Speaking, a witty and charming comedy by playwright Alan Ayckbourn, who's often referred to as the English equivalent of Neil Simon.

And, judging from the overall high quality of this production of Ayckbourn's play, I look forward to the time when Hays directs another show for this talented community theatre group.

The two-act English comedy, which ran last Thursday through Saturday, has two more performances scheduled for this Friday (June 13th) and Saturday (June 14th). All shows begin at 8:00 p.m. at the Emmanuel Church, 761 Sumner Avenue (corner of Sumner Avenue and White Street), Springfield.

Relatively Speaking tells the amusing story of four people who get caught up in a series of secrets and lies. A chic young blond named Ginny (Marge McKinnon) is currently the girlfriend and lover of Greg (Jeff Whitney), a good-natured young chap who is far less experienced in the ways of romance than Ginny is.

In fact, Greg has a jealous streak in him, and — judging from the mysterious phone calls and boxes of candy that she has received as of late — he suspects that Ginny is still keeping contact with a former romantic partner.

Seeking a way to make himself the sole object of her delightful feminine wiles, Greg asks Ginny to marry him. However, she is hesitant to immediately accept his proposal, saying that she must talk to her parents about it first.

Determined to make Ginny his wife, Greg takes it upon himself to visit the address which she said her parents reside at. But, little does he know that the people who actually live at this address are a middle-aged man named Philip (Richard Volker) — Ginny's former employer and lover — and his kind yet rather dim-witted wife, Sheila (Jean Burns).

Humor Built On Misunderstandings

Relatively Speaking is the kind of comedy whose humor and progression is built upon the misunderstandings and deceptions which occur throughout the course of its plot. Not only does Greg believe that Philip and Sheila are Ginny's parents, but Philip, upon meeting Greg, suspects that the young man is having an affair with Sheila and wants to marry her.

These misunderstandings, along with other humorous confusions, provide the laughs that are available to be had in Relatively Speaking, and if you enjoy comedy of this nature, you will most definitely be entertained.

Unlike French farces which deal with similar subjects, however, this Ayckbourn play does not use any slapstick humor. Instead, it relies on the dialogue to provide the story with funny qualities and moments, thereby giving Relatively Speaking a sophisticated and more true-to-life slant.

RICHARD VOLKER, JEAN BURNS, MARGE MCKINNON and JEFF WHITNEY in a scene from the Encore Players' production of the Alan Ayckbourn comedy "Relatively Speaking." The two-act comedy has two more performances, Friday, June 13th, and Saturday, June 14th, at the Emmanuel Church, 761 Sumner Avenue, Springfield.

Unfortunately, the first scene of Act I — in which Greg and Ginny do a bit of arguing and the story begins to develop — is not particularly funny and moves a bit too slowly. Yet, once the second scene of the first act gets underway, the play truly comes to life and builds the momentum which it sustains until the very end.

Under the highly proficient direction of Hays, Relatively Speaking features four of the most well-acted performances that I've seen during the Encore Players' 1985-86 season. Hays, who brings many years of professional theatre experience to this production, makes his four-member cast bring out subtle personality traits in their respective roles, and these nuances add dimension to the play's somewhat stereotypical characters.

Greg and Sheila are the "good guys" of the plot, as they are the primary recipients of Ginny's and Philip's lies, respectively. But, in spite of their genial qualities, each of them manages to get what they want from their respective companions.

Whitney gives Greg a dogged sense of persistence which is able to stand up to Ginny's strongest objections over matters (which is why his character decides to visit the home of Ginny's supposed parents).

And, while Sheila is a bit slow to catch on to things, Miss Burns conveys a self-satisfied sense of accomplishment when her character does indeed get the upper hand over her husband.

Skittish And Nervous Quality

As the sultry Ginny, Miss McKinnon projects the appropriate amounts of conceitedness and world-weariness. However, she also demonstrates a skittish and nervous quality whenever her character tells a lie or it appears as though her lies are about to be revealed.

Volker, in the role of Philip, is an absolute delight to watch as he blends adult craftiness with childlike insecurity and fear. Not only does he provide much humor through his combination of these diverse characteristics, but he also intensifies it by slyly smiling when his character is behaving in a sneaky manner, and by pulling his sweater over his face whenever things appear to turn sour for him.

PUBLISHER'S NOTE: Tickets for Relatively Speaking are $5.00 (general admission) and $4.00 (student/senior citizens). They can be purchased at the door prior to each performance, or reserved by calling 783-1616.

PHILM REVIEW

by Phil Benoit
Entertainment Editor

-Cobra: 0 STARS

In the past year, Sylvester Stallone has proclaimed himself to be a one-man symbol and defender of American honor and justice on a number of cinematic battlefields. Last summer, Stallone single-handedly refought the Vietnam War for our country in Rambo: First Blood Part II.

Then, during the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons of 1985, he protected the world of professional boxing from the "Red Menace" in Rocky IV. And now, good old Sly takes on the vilest criminals that U.S. urban society has to offer in a Dirty Harry-ish action drama titled Cobra.

However, if he really wants to do something worthwhile and commendable, Stallone should start defending the American moviegoing public from as much Hollywood refuse as possible — and he can do this easily enough by putting an end to his notorious contributions to such garbage.

In Cobra, Stallone portrays Marion Cobretti, a trigger-happy, Los Angeles police lieutenant who specializes in permanently ridding his city of incorrigible evildoers. But this time, Cobretti, alias "Cobra," may have met his match in a group of satanic, blood-thirsty killers who are stalking a young woman (Brigitte Nielsen, Stallone's real-life spouse) who can identify their leader.

When you see action movies such as this one, you are not expecting any contenders for a Best Picture Academy Award. However, in the case of Cobra, to enter the theater with no expectations at all is still expecting too much.

This detestable film is an outright insult to anyone's intelligence; its action scenes have a sadistic streak to them which is reminiscent of a Friday the 13th thriller; and there is not one thing in the entire movie that can be construed as an example of professional filmmaking.

Yet, the worst things about Cobra are Stallone's performance and the script which he wrote for the picture. With such self-important lines as "This is where the law stops and I start" delivered in his typically grimaced manner, Stallone, as both actor and screenwriter, gives the impression that he takes his onscreen macho persona too seriously.

And, it is pretentiousness such as this which makes Cobra, at this point in time, my choice for the worst movie of 1986.

-Raw Deal: 2 STARS

Arnold Schwarzenegger stars as Mark Kaminsky, a former FBI agent who is asked by one of the bureau's officials (Darren McGavin) to infiltrate and destroy a powerful Chicago mob that has been able to elude legal prosecution.

While Cobra suffers from being unrelentingly serious in tone, Raw Deal is burdened with an overly comical atmosphere. Before, during, and after many of the action scenes, the characters make droll comments that take away some of the dramatic tension from these moments in the film.

Though this kind of lightheartedness was meant to serve as a source of necessary comic relief, it ultimately does more harm than good because of its unfortunate overuse.

Still, Raw Deal is a fast-paced, enjoyable movie that is far better than Cobra. Unlike the gunplay and bloodshed in Sylvester Stallone's current fiasco, the violence in this picture manages to be intense and exciting without ever becoming unpleasant or offensive to watch.

What's more, Schwarzenegger (Commando) gives his finest performance to date. Not only does he convey a charming and affable sense of humor, but he also creates a rugged personality for his character which is both fearsome and likable.

-Top Gun: 3 STARS

An entertaining picture about a young, daredevil Navy pilot (Tom Cruise) who attends an elite military flight school and develops a romantic relationship with his civilian astrophysics instructor (Kelly McGillis).

Top Gun is by no means a faultless film. Its plot is riddled with clichés and unrealistic situations, and the love story involving Cruise (Legend) and McGillis (Witness) lacks the spark that was inherent in the Richard Gere-Debra Winger romance in the 1982 hit An Officer and a Gentleman.

Nevertheless, Top Gun is a very worthwhile piece of summertime entertainment. Like the aforementioned An Officer and a Gentleman, it is a good example of solid, old-fashioned storytelling, and values such as self-confidence, comradeship, and patriotism are celebrated with much earnest emotion.

Under the skillful direction of Tony Scott (The Hunger), the picture features thrilling aerial photography, as well as a number of first-rate performances. Cruise gives his character a credible blend of cocky self-assurance and sincere geniality, and Anthony Edwards (Gotcha!) and Val Kilmer (Real Genius) are equally impressive as two of Cruise's fellow student-aviators.

But, best of all are Tom Skerritt (Alien) and Canadian actor Michael Ironside (Scanners) in the roles of veteran Navy pilots who command the flight school.

Top Gun is, in itself, nothing more than contrived melodrama, yet the onscreen and behind-the-scenes talents who made it have more than offset its intrinsic mediocrity. Thus, the picture proves that what goes into creating a film can sometimes redeem the shortcomings which are inherent to it in the first place.

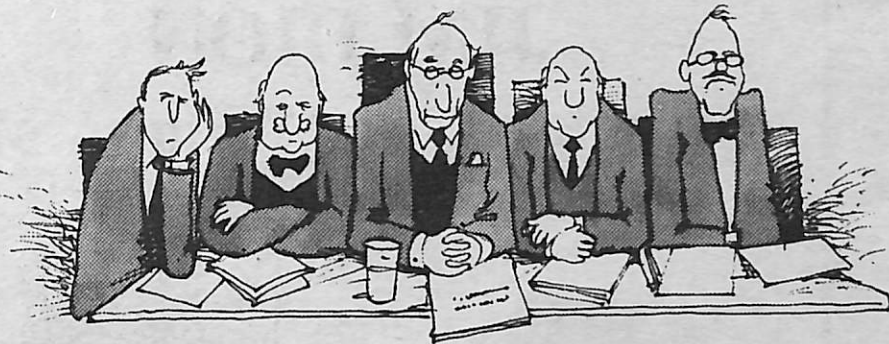

*THE PHILM GUIDE FOR PARENTS:

—Cobra & Raw Deal: Both movies are rated R for their many scenes of intense and graphic violence.

—Top Gun: Rated PG for some mature situations.

According to ADVERTISER NEWS Entertainment Editor Phil Benoit, he's still waiting for a summer blockbuster. So far, Phil recommends "Top Gun" and "Short Circuit" as two of the better movies on the long summer menu.

"CELEBRATION: JAPAN!" is continuing to take place at the Springfield Art Museums from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m., free. On June 22nd and June 29th, you can participate in a wardrobe session using traditional Japanese garments.

Celebration Of Japan Continues At Springfield Art Museums

Celebration: Japan continues at the Springfield Art Museums on the last remaining Sundays in June, the 22nd and 29th, from 1:00 to 4:30 p.m., with an entirely new assortment of free events for people of all ages.

This installment will evoke the heart and soul of Japanese culture, with activities that encompass kitemaking, flower arranging, a tea ceremony, folktale dramatizations, a puppet drama, and Imperial court dances.

As part of the Something Every Sunday series, Celebration: Japan has been held on Sunday afternoons in June to highly-appreciative audiences. This new schedule of events should encourage veterans and newcomers to attend.

Dorothea Szabo will offer instruction in the construction of Japanese kites, bringing to her workshop examples from her collection. Just as the Japanese do with theirs, participants will represent their own heroes on their kites. Mrs. Szabo promises that the kites made, will be guaranteed to fly.

Floral consultant for Smith College, Loretta Selgelid will demonstrate the ancient Japanese form of flower arranging known as ikebana. This particular style can be traced back to those 6th-century Buddhist priests who took great pains in making special flower arrangements in their temples as a way of showing the bond between nature and humanity.

From 1:00 to 2:00 p.m., and recommended for adults only, an authentic Japanese tea ceremony will be conducted by Nobue Yamashita, the consultant for Japanese cultural affairs at Mount Holyoke College. This subtle ritual creates a relaxing, aesthetic, and sensual experience of the simple taking of tea.

Visitors will enjoy a "wardrobe session," of Japanese garments which will be available to try on. Movie buffs can watch a mini-festival of films about Japanese art and culture playing continuously throughout the afternoon.

On June 22nd only, the Enchanted Circle Theatre will enact their highly-acclaimed Tales From Japan. Wearing colorful masks and costumes, and to the accompaniment of live flute and percussion, the actors will dramatize the adventures of a woman flutemaker in The Woman Who Laughed.

Local Historian Gives Tour Of Classical

Local historian and author Dr. Donald D'Amato will combine history with his own first-hand and personal memories for a guided tour of Springfield's Classical High School, Sunday, June 15th, from 1:00 to 2:00 p.m., and 3:00 to 4:00 p.m.

The Victorian-era school building is destined to become apartments as Springfield's new Central High School opens its doors in the fall. Dr. D'Amato, a history teacher at Classical, will conduct the walking tour with an eye for architectural detail, but also with many anecdotes of famous and infamous alumni of the school.

The construction of the school building began in 1897 with the laying of the cornerstone and the burial of a box beside it with more than 50 publications, including several Springfield newspapers, magazines, photographs, a flag and various books. Classical High School opened the following year in 1898, and was hailed as one of the finest school buildings in the country.

The outstanding building design, the laboratories, lecture rooms, art studio, and observatory tower, complete with telescope, were all considered top-notch.

Dr. D'Amato will highlight many of these now historic features in the walking tour, sponsored by the Connecticut Valley Historical Museum. Please call the museum for information and tour registration. Early registration is recommended as the tour size is limited. Call the museum, 732-3080.

A humble stonemason's quest for power will be depicted in Stonecutter, a play in which performers transform themselves not only into characters, but also mountains, clouds, and storms. Curtain time is 2:00 p.m.

Two exceptional events headline June 29th: a Japanese puppet drama by Repertory Puppet Theatre from 2:00 to 3:00 p.m., and a premiere area performance of Imperial court dances from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

One of the finest puppeteers in the country, Paul Vincent-Davis performs with a variety of hand, rod, and marionette puppets. His feature presentation, The Golden Axe, is a humorous folk tale which includes three sensitive dances based on Kabuki theatre. In one of the acts, he makes a sinister samurai puppet perform the extraordinary feat of drawing a sword from a narrow sheath.

The Jo-Ha-Kyu Performance Group will perform a lecture-demonstration of bugaku, an ancient Japanese court dance with slow and controlled symmetrical movements and elaborate costumes. This profound dance technique was an important part of Buddhist ceremonies and festivals in the Imperial court.

This is the last of a series of highly-successful Sunday afternoon programs, which began in January 1986. They are supported by a generous grant from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a stage agency.

THE EN-CHANTED• CIRCLE will perform two Japanese tales, "The Woman Who Laughed" (above), and "The Stonecutter," June 22nd, in the MFA auditorium at 2:00 p.m., free, as part of "Celebration: Japan"! The Museum of Fine Arts is located on the Quadrangle in Springfield.

"Honeybee's Party" Celebrated With Zest By Granger Kids

by Alexis Ferioli
School Department Editor

Over 200 parents and relatives attended "Honeybee's Party," Wednesday, June 4th, at Granger School.

Approximately 60 kindergarten students of Georgene Knight and Ann Favreau participated in the 30-minute production, which culminated the students' science unit on insects.

Set in a woodland meadow near a big rocky ledge, the early-morning show recounted the adventures of honeybee, who invites all her insect friends to a party celebrating spring's arrival.

Narrated by Mrs. Knight, the musical tale featured several original songs and dances, as well as an assortment of imaginative costumes.

Dressed as a can of "Raid," Mrs. Favreau aided the kindergartners as they performed their respective roles. Among these were bees, ants, red bugs, ladybugs, butterflies, grasshoppers, cicadas, katydids, crickets, and spiders.

Mrs. Knight relates that the students spent three weeks rehearsing for their year-end performance. Besides choreographing dance routines, both she and Mrs. Favreau wrote several of the show's chants.

Mrs. Knight gratefully acknowledges the creative talents six parents who designed the cast's costumes. They are Tricia Charest, Ellen Feeley, Sandra Rock, Susan St. Laurent, Noreen Warner, and Barbara Wrigley.

Moreover, both teachers credit children's author/illustrator Pamela Anzalotti for designing the program covers and invitations.

Following the production, school principal James Loomis invited audience members to join the cast for refreshments in the cafeteria.

Robinson Park School Receives Face-Lift For School Pride

by Alexis Ferioli
School Department Editor

If beauty is in the eyes of the beholder, then visitors to Robinson Park School will find plenty to admire due to improvements made during School Beautification Week, May 27th to 30th.

Initiated as a means of developing school pride, the improvement project was sponsored jointly by the school's Adelphi Team and Parent Teacher Organization.

School Principal Barbara Skolnick points out that the beautification project began Saturday, May 17th, when teachers and parents worked together to paint the school's playground equipment and blacktop game lines.

Besides improving the playground's overall appearance, the project also provided more activities for the students to enjoy during recess periods.

Volunteering their time for the day-long project were Mrs. Skolnick, teachers Andrew Bower and Patricia Burnett, Mr. Burnett, PTO President Karen Schroeder, and parents Petra Gervais, Kathy Cassanelli, Teri Machia, Mr. & Mrs. Ted Tebaldi, and Mr. & Mrs. DiMare.

Mrs. Skolnick reports that each day throughout the month of May, students were asked to do something to help beautify their school, such as pick-up litter inside and outside the building.

As the culmination of the month-long project, the school's front circle was landscaped with flowering bushes and shrubs.

Circle designer and project coordinator Kathie Kida was aided with the planting by parents Eleanor Jean, Dawn Rivest, Petra Gervais, Teri Machia, and Kathy Cassanelli.

Moreover, as a means of involving the entire student body with the beautification project, beds of flowers and bulbs were planted by the school's 466 students.

Funds, which the students raised doing chores at home, were used to purchase the brightly-colored annuals and perennials.

"We asked each student to join in an adopt-a-flower campaign by doing chores at home and to donate the money they earned to purchase flowers for the school. In this way, the entire family became involved with the beautification project," explains Mrs. Skolnick.

The veteran educator notes that a variety of spring and fall flowering bushes and shrubs were planted so that the school could enjoy a display of color almost year-round.

She reports that this year's beautification plan is only phase one of a project she hopes to extend to other areas of the school grounds.

"We believe that when a school looks good, students develop pride in the building and are less likely to vandalize it. We also hope to promote a good school image for our students," remarks Mrs. Skolnick.

In Division I Semi-Finals...

Panther Softball Stops Brownies Cold, 9-2

by Todd Holt
Advertiser News Sports Editor

All good things must come to an end. That was the case as Agawam High School bowed-out of the Western Mass. Division I girls' softball tournament, 9-2, to defending Division I champ Springfield Cathedral, Tuesday night, June 10th, at Chicopee's Szot Park.

The Brownies, who were seeded number one, and Amherst Regional, seeded number two, both of the Valley Wheel, each went down in the semi-finals after receiving first round byes. Perhaps, the 10-day layoff hurt the Brownies, who ended the season on an emotional-high.

Coach Cindy Grieve, however, didn't go along with that. "At the end of the regular season we were all keyed-up and ready to go. I don't think we lost any of our intensity during the layoff," said Miss Grieve.

With a Valley Wheel championship under their belt, a big crowd behind them, and pitching ace Michele Montesi on the mound, the Brownies were confident of disposing Cathedral, one of four teams to defeat the locals during the regular season.

The Panthers, however, had different ideas. They used their tournament experience, capitalized on several Brownies mistakes, and used a hard-solid defense to oust the top-seeded Brownies from the tournament.

Agawam had runners in scoring position in the first two innings but failed to cash-in until the bottom of the third. Trish Landry drew a walk to open the frame and stole second moments later. Kelly Erskine then tried to bunt Landry to third but popped it up for the first out.

Kathy Landry, who has helped carry the offense all year, lined a single into centerfield for the game's first hit. Unfortunately for the Brownies, it would be their only safety of the evening.

Cathy Landry then stole second putting the Landry sisters at second and third with one out and catcher Kelli Trudell at the plate. Trudell laid-down a sacrifice bunt that scored Trish Landry from third to put the Brownies on top, 1-0, their only lead of the game.

Cathedral had a runner on third in the top of the third, but Montesi, who was firing bullets, registered her third strikeout of the evening to stamp-out the threat.

The Panthers did get on the board in the fourth. With runners on second and third and none out, a groundball was fielded by third baseman Sue Girard. Girard looked the runner back to third base and tried to make a play on her, but threw the ball away to allow the run to score.

A few minutes later, Girard reestablished herself with a fine play that saved the Brownies a run. She fielded a bunt with a runner on third, faked a throw to first, and then wheeled back to third base and nailed the runner going back to the bag. Still, the Panthers managed to go-ahead for good on a fielder's choice later in the inning.

The walls crumbled on Montesi and the Brownies in the fifth. The Panthers scored five times. The big blow was delivered by Cathedral's Chris Collins on a misplayed groundball that opened the floodgates.

The Brownies had a decent opportunity to score in the bottom of the inning. Trudell was on third base with one out when Sharon O'Keefe smashed a liner into the right centerfield gap. Her screamer was caught, however, on a magnificent grab by the Panthers' centerfielder.

Sue Jochim then followed with a two-out walk and switch-hitter Carolyn Jochim, batting from the right, walked to load the bases. This brought Montesi to the plate and the now quiet Agawam crowd was suddenly back in the game. However, Montesi struckout, something she's done to opposing batters since early April.

Cathedral tacked-on more insurance in the top of the seventh, sending the fans to the exits. In the last of the seventh, the Brownie fans stood and cheered the entire inning to try and start a rally.

Lori Desimone, who walked to open the seventh, ended-up on third after stealing two bases. Trish Landry then was caught looking at a called third strike for the first out. Missy Danio then walked as a pinch-hitter. Desimone came in to score on a wild pitch for the game's final run.

The Brownies finished their marvelous 1986 season at 16-5.

1986 Brownies Full Of Softball Memories

by Todd Holt
Advertiser News Sports Editor

Now that it's all over, the Agawam High School girls' softball team can sit back and reflect on what turned-out to be a wonderful 1986 schoolgirl season. Despite their tumble from the Western Mass. Tournament, who would have ever thought in March when training camp opened that the Brownies would win the Valley Wheel and received the number one seed in the Division I tournament?

This year's team had character, spirit, and without a doubt, was no fluke. Following the disappointing, 9-2 loss to defending Western Mass. champion Cathedral, Tuesday night, June 10th, at chilly Szot Park, there were no tears shed by the Brownies. The remorse didn't last long. The gals patted each other on the back and went home.

The glue of all this success in 1986 was coach Cindy Grieve, who has finally written her own page of respect and accomplishment as an inter-scholastic coach. Miss Grieve experienced some difficulties a year ago but all of that is now forgotten. What a difference a year makes.

The Brownies twice defeated Amherst Regional, a team that received the number two seed in the tourney. This was virtually the same Amherst squad who owned the Wheel in 1985. The Hurricanes were toasted as the cream of the crop in the Wheel this year. The Brownies, in the pre-season predictions, were no where to be found.

The softball team certainly stole the thunder this year from the rest of the school's spring sports.

Agawam townspeople showed their appreciation for this group by turning-up in large numbers to Szot Park Tuesday night. They local fans stayed and cheered until Trish Landry grounded-out to end the game.

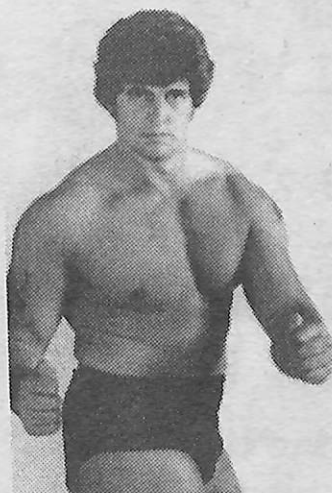

The fans screamed wildly when senior-graduate Michele Montesi, one of the real Cinderella stories in Western Mass. this year, fanned her first batter of the game in the second inning.

SPORTSMAN'S CORNER

The Acid Rain Problem...

The recent rainfall was seven times more acidic than the previous rain storms that we had. The Division of Fisheries and Wildlife is using copters to spread lime over chosen waters in an attempt to neutralize the acid in the lakes and ponds. Our waters are going sterile and fish life will not survive the onslaught of the acid rain.

The lime operation is very costly and will eventually be discontinued because of lack of funds. What is scary is the damage that the acid rain is causing to our wildlife, forests, and the erosion of metal of the various statues and other metal objects throughout the state.

If it has that effect on the environment around us, what is it doing to the health of the humans? We are ingesting it every day when we eat vegetables from gardens and farms in the state, yet, I've not heard of one study that has been done along those lines. I wouldn't be surprised to hear in the near future that the powers to be will be salting our reservoirs with chemicals to combat the acid rain that we are drinking every day.

I recall when I was young the blind faith the people had in the national government. I remember my mother making the statement, "The Government would never let it happen."

Well, since 1981, the safety standards in this country have deteriorated to a shocking low. The administration has either cut drastically the manpower in OSHA, the Food and Drug Administration, and the Environmental Protection Agency, or the money to operate these departments efficiently. As one person remarked to me the other day, "I'm afraid to watch 60 Minutes, but I give-in at the last minute and turn it on."

The latest episode is the complete breakdown on the inspection of meat that we eat. The blue stamp on the meat means nothing. The inspectors are told by the higher levels in government to cooperate with the meat processors. As a result, putrid, rotten meat is being sold to the American public.

A few years ago, when the Med-fly scare was located in California, the environmentalists were concerned about the chemical the Agricultural Department gave the green light to use to stop the pest. A department head made the statement that it was no more harmful to the public than smoking one cigarette.

Yet, two workers were instructed to wash-out a tank that carried the chemical before an inspection team arrived. The men wore rubber boots and rubber gloves. Both men died horrible deaths two weeks after cleaning the tank. Their joints swelled way out of proportion and their skin rotted away, leaving large open sores, etc.

The incident was hushed-up. The American public was sold the vegetables the chemical was used on. Who knows how many deaths were caused throughout the country. When a cause of death is unknown, the certificate states from "natural causes." The fruits grown overseas are treated with chemicals banned in this country. The produce is shipped to this country for consumption with very little inspection by the customs agents. Their force has been cut down drastically. They do not have enough manpower. I could go on and on. It seems that this government is "not for the people, by the people," but for "the dollar and to hell with the people." Scary.

Ontario Concerned

The Canadian Ontario government is preparing to mail thousands of acid rain information kits next year to American anglers who fill in mail-back postcards attached to their 1987 non-resident angling license.

More than 600,000 non-resident anglers buy licenses to fish in Ontario every year. Almost all are Americans (who come from the northeastern and north central states, where many industries that use soft coal fuel are located).

The MOE estimates that up to 10,000 Ontario lakes are now being threatened by sulphur and nitrogen emissions that combine with water molecules at high altitudes to form acid rain or snow. Even the minute elevation of lake acid levels is enough to kill off fish populations and many other forms of aquatic life. Forests and woodlands are also threatened by airborne pollution, the ministry reports.

SOCCER COACH JIM FONTE

WSC Coach Jim Fonte Offers Summer School

Westfield State College soccer coach Jim Fonte of Feeding Hills will be offering a week of summer soccer school, July 13th to July 18th, at Westfield State College, for ages seven to 18.

This will be the eighth year that Jim Fonte has directed such an overnight school at Westfield State. He has also directed day schools in the surrounding towns, along with many clinics for both youths and coaches.

Fonte is currently coaching the under 19 boys' soccer team in Agawam and assisting on both the under 19 girls' team coached by Carol Slate, and the under 16 girls' team, coached by Jerry Sullivan. The three teams have a combined record of 15-6-1.

"In the five years that I have been associated with the Agawam Soccer Association, it has been a pleasure to see the rise of soccer talent reach the championship caliber that it has. The interests of both parents and youth coaches have led to Agawam being the fastest growing soccer town in Western Massachusetts, as evident in the 1,100 plus youths playing in town," states Fonte.

"Many of Agawam's youth players have benefitted from my soccer schools, based on what I consider to be one of the best coaching staffs offered in a soccer school," he added.

For more information, please contact, Fonte, 789-2320.

Annual Racers' Picnic At Riverside Speedway

The management of New England's "most successful quarter-mile," Riverside Park Speedway, wish to invite the race fans, drivers, and their families to the special Annual Racers' Picnic.

The function is designed to create an atmosphere of friendship and family-fun for all race people. It will be held in the Riverside Grove, Sunday, July 27th. The Grove is a special V.I.P. resort-type banquet and picnic area, located in a secluded section behind the famed Thunder Bolt Roller Coaster. The function will be open to as many as 2,000 race people.

For the competitors and car owners, they will be treated to a special extra bonus. All of the competitors in each division that have competed in at least three race events during 1986 will receive a V.I.P. Executive Racers' Gift Pack. This pack will consist of one ticket for the driver to the picnic and one ticket for the owner. In addition to this, the owner and driver will receive a "V.I.P. Ride Pass" for up to five guests to ride the rides and enjoy all the attractions that have made Riverside New England's largest and finest amusement park.

Besides this, competitors are invited to bring their race cars for a special display in the stadium. It will be a great opportunity to give family members and race fans a chance to ride on the race track in a real race car.

In addition to this, the spectacular softball playoffs will occur as the Modifieds will go against the Pro Stocks and Streets. Last year, the function was a huge success as everyone played softball until dark.

Everyone is urged to support the racers' picnic. Free gifts will be given to all who attend. Ticket prices are designed to cover only the cost of the function and are priced at just $9. The ticket covers the admission to the park and stadium at noon, with a delicious, all-you-can-eat buffet served at 2:00 p.m. in the Riverside Grove, followed by family activities in the park, stadium, and Grove.

Tickets must be bought in advance at Riverside Park Speedway (in the Novelty Booth on race nights). See Mrs. Dodge or call Riverside Park Speedway, 786-9300.

Montesi, only in her first varsity season, won all 16 games for the Brownies this year and was a major reason why the gals won the Valley Wheel title.

She fired two no-hitters this season and a host of shutouts. By the time the tournament came, no one outside of Agawam involved in schoolgirl softball was asking "Who is this Montesi kid?" They knew.

There were high-fives galore on the Brownie side and in the stands when the locals jumped to a 1-0 lead on Kelli Trudell's sacrifice bunt. There was even talk of getting a "Brownie Wave" started in the stands.

It was like a pep rally. The Brownies were just happy to be there. Cathedral's been there before, many times. And as the game wore-on, it was experience and poise that won-out over the raw emotion and bubbly Agawam High.

Joining Montesi on the graduating list is the outstanding Sharon O'Keefe, a co-captain who is solid in the field and at the plate; and co-captain Cathy Landry, a slugger who can hit with the best of them.

Losing these three seniors will put a void in the Brownies' lineup next year, especially in the pitching department. But with the likes of Carolyn Jochim, Lori Desimone, Sue Girard, Linda Porowski, Kelly Erskine, Becky Runshaw, and Nancy Nickerson all coming back with more experience and confidence, the Brownies are in fine shape for 1987.

Add the depth of Missy Danio, Lori Waniewski, Tami Santora, Shelly Morris, and Cindy Jochim to the team, and, of course, Cindy Grieve, the Brownies will be heard from again. For sure.

Rosati Boys Point-Leaders At Riverside

They don't come from a family of racers, but John and Tom have certainly put the name of Rosati in the local racing books.

Separately, the Rosati boys have accumulated countless wins and many track championships - together, they have added another first to the NASCAR record books by being the point leaders in their respective divisions (at the same time) at the Riverside Park Speedway.

John Is The 1985 Riverside Champ

John, who is the defending Riverside Speedway champ for the Modifieds, is currently the point-leader in that division. He has two wins so far this season at the Agawam oval. His super-fast Troyer-mount is owned by Ron Young of Southwick Motor Sales and is wrenched by Barry Kuhnle and a dedicated racing crew.

John has a good relationship with this group and he's stated more than once that these men are the real heroes behind the way his car performs at Riverside every Saturday night.

John's talents are magnified at the quarter-mile oval by his outstanding blasts to the front of the field each week. If he continues on his present pace, he's a sure bet to repeat as the Riverside champion.

Winning the 1985 championship was a milestone in John's career, but he is quick to point out that "winning races, not championships," is his goal. "Winning races and running very fast every week is the important thing. If a championship follows, that's fine. But I want to win," John told us.

Throughout his star-studded career, John has taken down many racing honors, including the Candian National Championship in the early 1970's plus the Vermont State Championship a few years later.

He began in a Sportsman car and burned-up the Northern NASCAR Division before turning to the mighty Modifieds in 1975. He entered victory lane on the Modified circuit at every major race track around, including Stafford, Thompsonville, and of course, Riverside.

John's hometown track at Riverside remains his favorite. When not racing, John is usually working in the family business on Silver Street - John's Trucking of Agawam. The business has long been an intricate part of the community.

Those who know John best are quick to point out that he "is as crazy about his new toy (a 1981 Peterbilt) as he is of racing cars." Whatever John does, he seems to put his whole heart and soul in it.

When it comes to food, he loves steak teriyaki and veal parmigian. When it comes to colors, he's partial to blue and brown. When it comes to TV shows, he gets a charge out of the Newlywed Game and Family Feud.

But when it comes to his first love in his life, racing, he thinks of it as a job rather than a hobby. "With the cost of racing what it is today, you can't treat racing as a hobby anymore. It's just another job we are hired to do."

Tom agrees with his older brother. "Racing began as a sport but big bucks have quickly turned it into a full-time job for many people. Tom is the "baby" of the Rosati clan at 25, but his racing accomplishments read as long as some people's grocery lists.

Tom is a multi-track champion at the Stafford Motor Speedway in the Later Model Sportsman Division and his greatest accomplishment, to date, is winning the prestigious Oxford 250 in 1979. Rosati raced on a full-time basis one summer in Australia where he was quickly accepted by the "down under" people as a favorite of theirs.

He copped one victory in Australia but his hard-charging style brought him many more top five finishes. Tom is behind the wheel this season of the Tom O'Sullivan Welding/EMS 28X Pro Stock, owned by Dougie Cloues. He has already secured one win for this team at Riverside, and is a frontrunner every time he takes to the speedway.

At presstime, Tom is the current leader in the Pro Stock Division by four points.

Both Boys Have The Talent

Although Tom and John are similar in very few ways, they both have the talent it takes to become two of the best in their respective divisions.

Tom is a Chinese food fanatic and spends most of his spare time jet skiing in the summer and snowmobiling in the winter. He is the loquacious one in the family while John is the more quiet Rosati.

Tom is also employed at John's Trucking in Agawam as a mechanic. Most of the time, you'll find him working on equipment or trying to come-up with some new way to operate certain machinery. Both Rosatis seem to be workaholics. They love "their dirt."

While looking into the future is best for soothsayers when talking about what's in the cards for the Rosati boys in racing, one thing is for sure - when you enter the new Riverside Park Speedway this year, you can bet sure money that in either division, Modified or Pro Stock, the Rosati racers will put on quite a show.

They treat racing as a job. Believe it. They do their jobs very well!

100-Lap Race To Highlight Riverside's June 14th Race Card

Mother Nature with its heavy rains forced the cancellation of the Manchester Oil Heat CAM2 100, Saturday, June 7th. It was a special event for the Nascar Winston Modifieds, plus a 25-lap special for the Streets. As of 2:30 p.m., Saturday, it was raining so hard that the management was forced to make a big decision. The end result comes as a major bonus to the race fans and the competitors.

On Saturday, June 14th, Riverside will host a new format for the Manchester Oil Heat 100. The event will begin with an early practice at 4:00 p.m. (All gates will open at 4:00 p.m.). A driver's meeting will begin at 6:15 p.m., with the first heat for the Street Stocks beginning at 6:30 p.m.

Following the Streets will be the Nascar Modified heats, plus consis.

As an added bonus to the program, Riverside will also run a Pro Stock feature event. So, the main event will consist of a 100-lap Nascar Modified feature, plus a 25-lap Street Stock feature, and a 25-lap Pro Stock feature.

Still, the best news of all is that this block-buster entertainment value is still priced at the lowest admission price in Nascar Auto Racing today, just $6.95 for adults and 95 cents for kids, eight and under.

Pit fees, as always, with all owners and drivers competing, are free. All Nascar members pay just $6. Two free ladies' passes are given with each car.

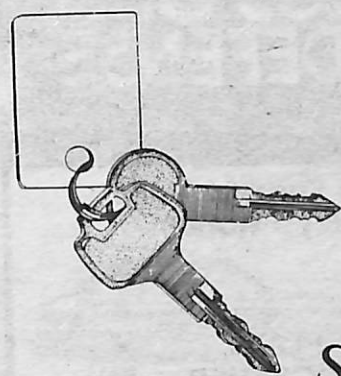

And that's still not all. There will be $1,500 in Cam 2 Heat Bonus Cash, plus $1,200 from Budweiser, The King of Beers, and a free giveaway to the first 5,000 Nascar Winston race fans. Budweiser and Williams Distributing will present a special additional Budweiser Bottle-Opener keychain valued at $6 to the first 5,000 race fans, free.

Drivers expected to be on hand will include John Rosati, Stan Greger, Mike Stefanik, Bob Polverari, S. J. Evonsion, Ray Miller, Mike McLaughlin, and several other top drivers, such as Reggie Ruggiero, and more.

The Streets are expecting a field of over 40 cars, with frontrunners like Dan Delena, John Lobo, Butch Chadbourne, Roger Charette, Brian Crunden, and Gary Fioromonti.

As for the Pro Stocks, a strong field is expected with drivers like Tom Rosati, Fran Colson, Jim McCallum, Rick Turcotte, Mike Widger, Wes Rosner, Paul Suprenant, and more.

Rhesus Monkeys At Riverside Park

Riverside, New England's largest and number one amusement park, will again host 12 Rhesus Monkeys to entertain park guests for the 1986 season.

The 12 monkeys were flown in from Pennsylvania in their own private aircraft for another "swinging" season. The Rhesus will make their home on the isle of the "Pirates Cove" boat ride, an enclosed cagelike structure that surrounds the island.

Park guests will take the boat ride through haunting caves where they pass "Monkey Island," witnessing the 12 visitors swinging from limb to limb.

The monkeys are of mixed sexes and range from 12 to 18-months in age. They currently weigh approximately three to four pounds. When fully matured, they will weigh up to 40 pounds. Their diet consists of fresh fruits and Purina monkey chow.

The monkeys will reside at Riverside until late September. Come to Riverside and take a ride on the "Pirates Cove" to catch a peek at the 12 little monkeys. Riverside is open daily June 1st through the summer months.
